

Here is your tip for June

Don't forget to tell people about your membership program. No one will join if they don't know it exists.

Include details of your membership program in your emails, with a link to the Sign-up sales page in your email signature file. If you post a comment in a Forum mention your membership program in your Signature file there.

Tell people about your membership program and all the benefits it offers when you speak to them or present at a conference or event. Sometimes all you need to do is mention it in passing and people will ask you for more details. Make sure you include all the details on any information you hand out.

Promote your membership program on your website and on your business card and letterhead.

And finally, ask us about having your membership site featured in our Featured Membership Programs area at <http://memberzine.com/featured.html> . That can be a great way to promote your membership program to a wide audience.

We'll have another tip next month.

Kind regards
